

MyBeauty Creator

Creation at the Moment of Use.

MyBeautyCreator

Take freshness and potency to a new level by creating your cream right before use.

MyBeautyCreator is a revolutionary beauty ecosystem which allows everybody to experience freshly produced cream, maximizing the effectiveness of active ingredients while minimizing the use of preservatives.

Individual single-dose CreatorPads contain all cream ingredients in separated compartments to allow for extremely long shelf-life and pharma-grade hygienic storage.

The result is a cream like nothing ever experienced before.

Fresh, high-potency cream
created on demand – just in time.

MyBeautyCreator makes your everyday skin-care routine an experience.

Potentially dozens or hundreds of different kinds of CreatorPads allow for highly individualized skin-care without storing multiple half-used cream jars that are no longer hygienic.

After insertion of a single-dose CreatorPad into the MyBeautyCreator machine, the machine automatically prepares a base cream and adds the active ingredients afterwards to avoid any thermal influence on the active ingredients. All this happens inside the CreatorPad under sterile conditions.

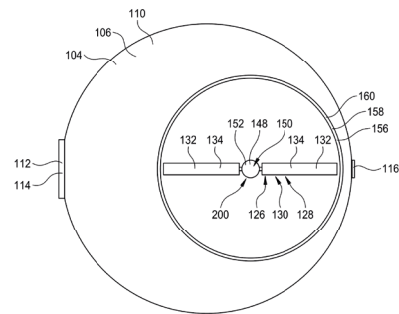

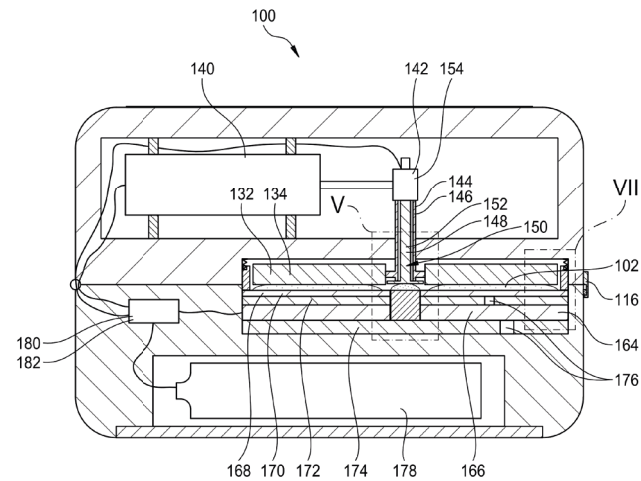

The CreatorPad is then taken out of the machine and torn open to provide the freshly prepared cream.

EXPERIENCE.
FRESHNESS.
like NOTHING ELSE.

✦ mybeautycreator.com

Patents & Trademarks

MyBeautyCreator is not just "one idea". MyBeautyCreator is the culmination of a large number of game-changing inventions which are protected by international (PCT) patent applications.

For example:
 PCT/EP2024/063067; PCT/EP2024/063068;
 PCT/EP2024/063069; PCT/EP2024/063070;
 PCT/EP2024/063072; PCT/EP2024/063073.

Further, trademark applications have been filed for „MyBeautyCreator“ and „CreatorPad“.

The Creation Process

The CreatorPad has several separate compartments. At least one for the lipid phase and one for the water phase as well as an (optional) compartment for special active ingredients. The inner seals between the base cream lipid and water phase compartments are broken up with the stirrer. The compartment for the special active ingredient remains intact. Then, the mixed lipid and water phases are heated inside the CreatorPad (inside the combined ring-shaped compartments of those phases) all the way up to 70 °C (160 °F) and afterwards cooled down to 10 °C (50 °F) while the stirrer ensures the homogenization of the lipid and water phases to create a homogenous cream. The center compartment of the CreatorPad which comprises the special active ingredient is thermally isolated and only combined with the other compartments after cooling to ensure the integrity and high potency of the active ingredient. After this final step, the CreatorPad is taken out of the machine and torn open to access the cream.

State of Play

With several prototypes we have proven that cream production within the MyBeautyCreator machine works perfectly.

The CreatorPads can be produced with a wide variety of foil materials to ensure sustainability.

A final prototype as the basis for large-scale production is only weeks away.

Depending on the required cream ingredients, a very long shelf-life is expected, especially considering that the base ingredients are heated before application.

Expansion of the product range into the pharmaceutical sector is in progress, in particular with a view to lyophilized powders.

The possibilities are limitless (not just cosmetics, but also applicable in so many other technological areas). It goes without saying that so are the potential profits!

Your Future

MyBeautyCreator is more than just a novelty. It is the basis of a revolutionary beauty ecosystem which will establish a completely new way of how people provide and use skin-care products.

We are open to collaborate in many ways, ranging from producers and filling companies for production of the CreatorPads all the way to beauty brands to work on specific cream formulations and market them in the new ecosystem. That said, we consider the market chances of our MyBeautyCreator to be perfect if just one of the well-established brands decided to introduce our system into the market as their own.

All this brings us to: Do YOU want to be the brand that revolutionizes the skin-care industry? Or will you watch others leap ahead?

Make MyBeautyCreator
yours before somebody else does.

Contact Us

info@mybeautycreator.com

+49 711 99793066

Fresh, high-potency cream
created on demand – just in time.

✦ mybeautycreator.com